

The disclosed invention includes pharmaceutical compositions and methods for 5 treating inflammatory conditions, particularly those that are characterized by increased binding of alpha-9 integrin to one or more of its ligands. Also disclosed are methods for selecting compounds for use in such compositions and methods.